With income earned from their businesses, evidences demonstrate that women can support their families and communities to prosper from one part and contribute to development of their country from another part. Yet women continue to encounter gender-specific obstacles that cannot be easily overcome without external help. Discriminatory laws, policies and attitudes often make it difficult for them to access land, financial services, technology, training and markets. Creating an enabling environment by addressing these obstacles is important, including through providing start-up funding or loans, access to banking as well as business and financial training. Removing legislative barriers, can also assist women establish and grow their businesses². To increase their economic participation and empowerment including the access to trade markets, women need mentoring, self-empowerment, capacity building and training as well as support to leadership roles, which require specific skills and competencies. They also need to be part of private sector policy development. This will also require special efforts such as creating conducive environment for women entrepreneurship promotion and integration in business and trade
